Senators Attack Supreme Court As 'Politicians'

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Supreme Court came under sharp attack at a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing today for its ruling that the federal government has sole jurisdiction in sedition cases.

The decision, handed down April 2, had the effect of upsetting state laws against subversion.

Sens. Eastland (D-Miss.) and McCarthy (R-Wis.) criticized the Supreme Court as "politicians instead of lawyers." McCarthy said, "They don't understand what they are doing."

McCarthy singled out Chief Justice Earl Warren for attack, saying:

"We made a mistake in confirming as chief justice a man who had no judicial experience and very little legal experience. . . . His only experience is as a politician."

Eastland, who has denounced the court repeatedly for its ruling against segregation in the public schools, commented that, "There are some very bad influences in the Supreme Court," and McCarthy said:

"It's not that they are knowingly helping the Communist cause. It's just that they don't understand what they are doing. They don't understand the function of the court. . . . They apparently feel the court should make laws and not interpret them."

Eastland presided as subcommittee chairman and McCarthy appeared as a witness for legislation which would nullify the effect of the court's April 2 decision, which was to suspend sedition laws in 42 states, Alaska and Hawaii.

Firing Squads Execute Pair

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, May 11 (AP)—A double firing squad shot two killers at dawn today in retribution for the murder of a service station attendant more than six years ago.

Black hoods covered the heads of Verne Alfred Braasch and Melvin Leroy Sullivan as they sat strapped in execution chairs in the Utah State Prison compound. Shaking hands betrayed their taut nerves.

Iron County Deputy Sheriff Charles Wells asked the two if they had any last words. Both answered "no."

Wells waved his hat as a signal and four bullets crashed into targets pinned over the heart of each man. One rifle of the five in each squad contained a blank. No one knew which.

Braasch lurched against his bonds. Sullivan uttered a sharp cry and slumped in his chair.

The riflemen—all volunteers—fired at 5:14 a.m. A doctor pronounced both men dead one minute later.

Committee Votes Billion Increase In Farm Funds

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—A bill to provide $1,983,512,568 for the Agriculture Department and affiliated agencies in the next fiscal year was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The figure was more than a billion dollars higher than last year's appropriation, but Agriculture Department officials said a true comparison could not be made because of changes in the law and in the bookkeeping on reimbursement programs.

The committee recommended $783,061,708 for regular programs of the Agriculture Department, a cut of $3,787,700 from the amount President Eisenhower requested. Last year's appropriation was $786,848,370.

A total of $929,287,178 was approved for the Commodity Credit Corporation to make up the usual heavy losses in its price support programs for the current fiscal year. Only $1,634,659 was provided in last year's bill, but losses were computed under a different system then and the CCC had already been reimbursed for most of its 1954 losses.

Also approved today was $271,163,682 for special activities such as the international wheat program, famine relief and anti-disease programs. The comparative figure last year was about 184½ million dollars.

The House is expected to take up the farm budget early next week. The appropriation will be for the 12 months starting July 1.

The Senate, meanwhile, was preparing to open debate next week on a revised farm bill incorporating Eisenhower's $1,200,000,000-a-year soil bank program.

Greek Scattering Leaflets Boasting Of Reprisal Slain

NICOSIA, Cyprus, May 11 (AP)—The Greek Cypriot underground said today it has hanged two British soldiers in reprisal for the British hanging of two Greek Cypriots.

A Greek Cypriot scattering leaflets boasting of the reported reprisal hangings was shot dead by a British patrol in Nicosia's main square this afternoon.

The British acknowledged the two soldiers were AWOL but raised doubts that they had fallen into the underground.

The leaflets called the executions of the two Greek Cypriots judicial murder and vowed the underground would answer hanging with hanging, torture with torture.

The Greek Cypriots had been condemned by British courts of political shootings and were hanged on the British gallows here Thursday morning.

Victims "Identified"

The outlawed underground EOKA (National Organization of Cypriot Fighters) said it hanged Cpls. Gordon Hill and Ronnie Shilton yesterday. It did not say where.

British military authorities issued a statement saying they had no information that either Hill or Shilton ever was in EOKA's hands. They called EOKA's claim "patently an attempt to make propaganda."

The British statement said Hill, 24, had been missing from his unit since Dec. 19. It reported Shilton missing since April 17 after he was reprimanded for sending home false reports that he had been seriously wounded.

No Evidence Produced

The British said EOKA never had put forward any claim that it was holding the pair as hostages for the lives of the two executed Cypriots—Michael Karalis and Andreas Demetriou.

Karalis and Demetriou were hanged in Nicosia's Central Prison, the first to be executed in the 18-month-old EOKA campaign for union of Cyprus with Greece.

The British statement said EOKA has not produced evidence that Hill and Shilton were executed. It added EOKA had their ranks wrong and claimed to have held Hill a month before he actually disappeared.

Oregon Switches To Demo Column

SALEM, Ore., May 11 (AP)—Oregon switched over to the Democratic column today, the Democrats taking a 13,350 lead in a registration of 780,595 voters.

As final registrations were completed here for the May 18 primary election, it was only the second time in history the Democrats had been listed in the lead in this state, and Democratic party officials regarded it as the first real lead.

In 1950 the Democrats were listed as 8,537 ahead, but that was regarded as only a "paper" lead. After the registration lists were double-checked a few months later, the Republicans were back in front.

Compromise Provides 27 Million For Satellites

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee agreed today to provide 27 million dollars for building earth-circling satellites.

The amount is a compromise between the 28 million dollars voted by the Senate and a House figure of 26 million. The satellites are scheduled to be launched during the International Geophysical Year which starts in July 1957 and ends in December 1958.

Report Maids Recruited By Immigration Service Checked

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Immigration Service has been asked for the facts on reports that its facilities have been used to recruit maids in Mexico to work here in the homes of some of its top officials.

The matter arose when Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas was questioning Joseph M. Swing, immigration commissioner at hearings yesterday of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Swing had been telling of the need for additional funds for his agency during the last fiscal year starting July 1. Johnson suddenly asked him if he had a Mexican maid.

Alabama Bus Segregation Hearing Ends

Opposing Lawyers Argue Over Extent Of High Court Ruling

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 11 (AP)—The three-judge panel in federal court completed a one-day hearing on city bus segregation this afternoon and adjourned without announcing an immediate decision.

They gave no indication when the decision would be announced.

Two of the three judges agreed in observations from the bench, however, that there has been no Supreme Court decision as yet on the constitutionality of city and state segregation laws on bus travel within a state.

Judge Richard T. Rives of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and Dist. Judge Seybourn Lynne of the Northern District of Alabama said they don't construe the April 23 Supreme Court ruling as a decision on the merits of bus segregation.

"Separate But Equal" Debate

The third member of the panel, Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. of the Middle District of Alabama, didn't comment.

In their closing arguments, opposing attorneys emphasized the issues of separate but equal facilities on city buses and whether the three-judge panel which heard the case actually has jurisdiction to decide it.

City Attorney Walter Knabe and Asst. Alabama Atty. Gen. Gordon Madison argued that no matter what the Supreme Court may have done in other fields, it hasn't yet overturned the old doctrine of separate but equal facilities in city bus transportation.

Claims Theory Upset

Negro attorney Robert Carter of New York insisted, on the other hand, that the separate but equal theory "has been overturned" by the Supreme Court in every other field and also perhaps in transportation.

Carter didn't argue that the Supreme Court decided the segregation issue last month but he said there is room for doubt.

It was at that point that Rives, presiding over the hearing, said that in his opinion the Supreme Court hasn't decided the issue, and Lynne added, "That's my opinion, too."

Navy Postpones McKeon's Trial

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Navy today postponed until July 6 the court-martial of Marine Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, charged with manslaughter in the drowning of six recruits at Parris Island, S. C., April 8.

It said the delay was asked by McKeon's civilian lawyer, Emile Zola Burman of New York City. Burman said prior commitments would not permit him sufficient time to prepare his case if the trial opened May 14 as scheduled.

The Navy said the Marine Corps was ready to proceed and that the delay has been granted "solely on the basis of allowing Sgt. McKeon's counsel every opportunity to prepare his defense consistent with reason."

The court, which will be composed of Navy and Marine Corps officers, has been instructed to convene at Parris Island on July 14. The Navy said Burman has been advised that any requests for further delays must be addressed to the court.

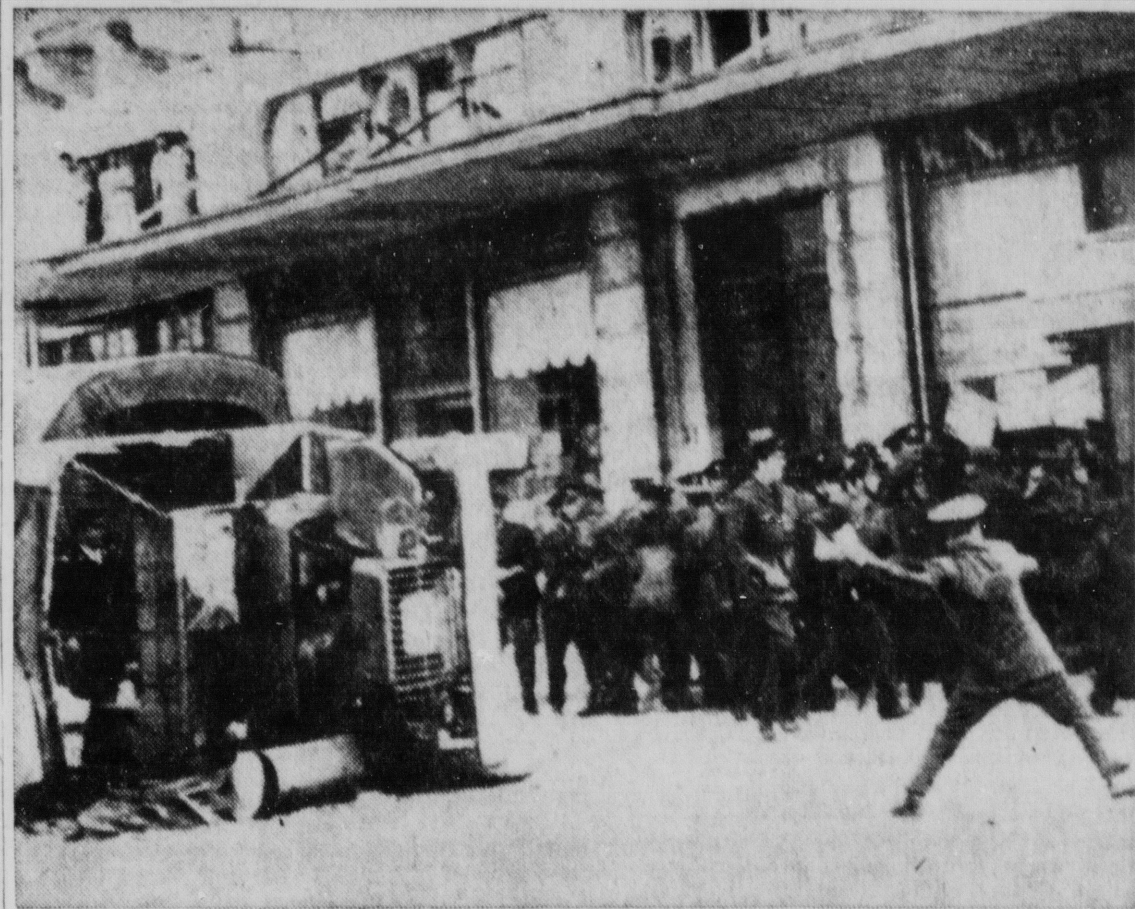

McKeon, a drill sergeant, had a platoon of 75 recruits under his charge at Parris Island, and on the night of April 8 ordered a disciplinary march into a swampy area.

Administration 'Smoke Screen' Hit By Truman

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Former President Truman today summoned "liberals" to do battle with the Eisenhower administration.

He said the administration is "preparing for us another election campaign of high-level presidential smiles and low-level vice presidential smears."

In a letter to the ninth annual convention of Americans for Democratic Action, advocate of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" policies, Truman accused the GOP of three years of "concealment and complacency."

He said the "job of the liberals is to bring the real issues out from behind the smoke screen and help all the people to reach an informed opinion."

ADA Backs Integration

Truman's letter was made public at a news conference at which ADA Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said ADA will urge that both major parties in their platforms make an "unequivocal pledge to support the Supreme Court decisions on desegregation."

Civil rights, mentioned by both Truman and Rauh, will occupy an important place in the deliberations of the three-day ADA convention, Rauh said.

"If either party compromises this issue — the Democrats in an attempt to maintain unity with the Dixiecrats and the Republicans in a search for Dixiecrat votes—it will lose not only the Negro vote but what may be even more important politically, the millions of independent voters who judge the parties by their adherence to basic human decency."

New Red Threat Seen

Although Truman said civil rights and civil liberties "must be high on any liberal agenda," he invited the nearly 600 delegates to give special consideration to foreign policy, farmers, and what he called the "growth of a new feudalism."

"We must hold the free world together in the face of a new and more insidious Communist offensive," he said.

Soviet Workers No Longer Tied To Jobs By Law

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today Soviet workers no longer will be bound to their jobs by law.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) revoked a series of laws dating as far back as 1940, thereby ending prosecutions of workers who leave their jobs without permission. The announcement said workers who now want to leave their jobs can do so by providing two weeks' notice.

Can Be Fined Or Fired

Directors of factories and institutions retain, however, the power to fine workers for unjustified absences or to dismiss them. The dismissal still will be entered in the workers' labor book—a sort of passport all workers in the Soviet Union must carry. Such notations remain black marks against the workers.

The decree of the presidium, which acts between sessions for the Parliament, stipulated that persons serving sentences for having left their jobs without permission are released, and prosecutions pending on the same grounds are canceled.

1940 Law Revoked

The new regulations were made public in a bulletin of the Supreme Soviet dated April 25. A preamble said the measure was taken "as a result of the growth of conscientiousness in workers and the increase in their material well being, discipline in factories and institutions."

The decree revoked a law of Oct. 19, 1940, which permitted the state to transfer workers from one job to another, and other laws of 1951 and 1952 enacted to meet problems of agriculture. It annulled penalties previously imposed for leaving jobs without permission of authorities.

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Moscow radio said tonight Britain has expressed regrets over the mysterious incident involving a missing royal navy frogman and a Soviet cruiser after Russia called for an explanation.

The British government made no comment on the report.

Navy Flattops Are Belittled By Air Force

Could Deliver Only "Small" Strategic Blow, Twining Says

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The long struggle between the air generals and air admirals burst into the open again today as the Air Force declared the Navy's big carriers could deliver only a "small" strategic punch against a foe.

This caused some raised eyebrows inasmuch as President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have recently been stressing the might of the Navy's aerial arm. They have done so in reply to critics who have accused the administration of dragging its feet in the development of long-range, land-based aerial striking power.

The new flare-up of interservice rivalry came to a head in a hearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on the administration's $33,650,000,000 defense budget. Witnesses were Secretary of the Air Force Quarles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff.

Thomas' View Recalled

Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) recalled that Secretary of the Navy Thomas had indicated that mobile aircraft carriers, with powerful bombers and fighters, might be able to hit an enemy harder than bombers from fixed land bases.

Twining replied that in case of war with Russia, carrier-based planes would be helpful, particularly in searching out the enemy, but that the nuclear knockout of enemy air bases must be accomplished with land-based, long-range bombers.

He said that carrier-based aircraft have relatively short ranges and that carriers could not always be in strategic spots for bombing attacks.

Carriers' Location Factor

Although both Quarles and Twining emphasized that naval aviation is important, Twining said: "But we must be realistic about such factors as the probable location of the carriers, as well as the amount of striking power they could contribute—to the strategic offensive—which is small."

A strategic offensive is one aimed at knocking out an enemy's vital bases and, in general, destroying the foundations of his war effort.

Twining and Secretary Quarles both told the subcommittee the administration's "austerity budget" of $33,650,000,000 for the 1957 fiscal year is adequate. But Quarles emphasized that there can be "no escape from a substantially larger budget in fiscal year 1958."

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Immigration Service has been asked for the facts on reports that its facilities have been used to recruit mails in Mexico to work here in the homes of some of its top officials.

The matter arose when Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas was questioning Joseph M. Swing, immigration commissioner at hearings yesterday of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Swing had been telling of the need for additional funds for his agency during the next fiscal year starting July 1. Johnson suddenly asked him if he had a Mexican maid.

After an immediate reply "I certainly do," Johnson asked if she had been recruited through the Immigration Service. Swing answered: "This is a Mexican maid who was serving in a restaurant in Juarez, and while I was on one of my inspection trips down in El Paso, I said to the district director, 'it is hard to get a maid in Washington. I wonder if there is any little Mexican girl over in Juarez who would like to emigrate and come over and go to work for me.'"

At this point Swing broke off his story to ask if he was testifying at a public hearing. Johnson replied yes.

Alabama Bus Segregation Hearing Ends

Opposing Lawyers Argue Over Extent Of High Court Ruling

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 11 (AP)—The three-judge panel in federal court completed a one-day hearing on city bus segregation this afternoon and adjourned without announcing an immediate decision.

They gave no indication when the decision would be announced. Two of the three judges agreed in observations from the bench, however, that there has been no Supreme Court decision as yet on the constitutionality of city and state segregation laws on bus travel within a state.

Judge Richard T. Rives of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and Dist. Judge Seybourn Lynne of the Northern District of Alabama said they don't construe the April 23 Supreme Court ruling as a decision on the merits of bus segregation.

"Separate But Equal" Debate

The third member of the panel, Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. of the Middle District of Alabama, didn't comment.

In their closing arguments, opposing attorneys emphasized the issues of separate but equal facilities on city buses and whether the three-judge panel which heard the case actually has jurisdiction to decide it.

City Attorney Walter Knabe and Asst. Alabama Atty. Gen. Gordon Madison argued that no matter what the Supreme Court may have done in other fields, it hasn't yet overturned the old doctrine of separate but equal facilities in city bus transportation.

Claims Theory Upset

Negro attorney Robert Carter of New York insisted, on the other hand, that the separate but equal theory "has been overturned" by the Supreme Court in every other field and also perhaps in transportation.

Carter didn't argue that the Supreme Court decided the segregation issue last month but he said there is room for doubt.

It was at that point that Rives, presiding over the hearing, said that in his opinion the Supreme Court hasn't decided the issue, and Lynne added, "That's my opinion, too."

Navy Postpones McKeon's Trial

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Navy today postponed until July 6 the court-martial of Marine Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, 31, charged with manslaughter in the drowning of six recruits at Parris Island, S. C., April 8.

It said the delay was asked by McKeon's civilian lawyer, Emile Zola Burman of New York City. Burman said prior commitments would not permit him sufficient time to prepare his case if the trial opened May 14 as scheduled.

The Navy said the Marine Corps was ready to proceed and that the delay has been granted "solely on the basis of allowing Sgt. McKeon's counsel every opportunity to prepare his defense consistent with reason."

The court, which will be composed of Navy and Marine Corps officers, has been instructed to convene at Parris Island on July 14. The Navy said Burman has been advised that any requests for further delays must be addressed to the court.

McKeon, a drill sergeant, had a platoon of 75 recruits under his charge at Parris Island, and on the night of April 8 ordered a disciplinary march into a swampy area.

Administration 'Smoke Screen' Hit By Truman

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Former President Truman today summoned "liberals" to do battle with the Eisenhower administration.

He said the administration is "preparing for us another election campaign of high-level presidential smiles and low-level vice presidential sneers."

In a letter to the ninth annual convention of Americans for Democratic Action, advocate of "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" policies, Truman accused the GOP of three years of "concealment and complacency."

He said the "job of the liberals is to bring the real issues out from behind the smoke screen and help all the people to reach an informed opinion."

ADA Backs Integration

Truman's letter was made public at a news conference at which ADA Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr. said ADA will urge that both major parties in their platforms make an "unequivocal pledge to support the Supreme Court decisions on desegregation."

Civil rights, mentioned by both Truman and Rauh, will occupy an important place in the deliberations of the three-day ADA convention. Rauh said:

"If either party compromises this issue — the Democrats in an attempt to maintain unity with the Dixiecrats and the Republicans in a search for Dixiecrat votes—it will lose not only the Negro vote but what may be even more important politically, the millions of independent voters who judge the parties by their adherence to basic human decency."

New Red Threat Seen

Although Truman said civil rights and civil liberties "must be high on any liberal agenda," he invited the nearly 600 delegates to give special consideration to foreign policy, farmers, and what he called the "growth of a new feudalism."

"We must hold the free world together in the face of a new and more insidious Communist offensive," he said.

Rio Commuters Riot; 11 Injured

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 11 (AP)—Commuters rioted against fare increases today while transport workers struck for higher wages. The two incidents dramatized Brazil's spiraling inflation.

The commuters, protesting an increase in fares up to 100 per cent, blocked one of Rio de Janeiro's main suburban rail lines for six hours. Eleven persons were wounded when police attempted with gunfire to drive 2,000 rioters from the Duque de Caxias station.

In Sao Paulo, Brazil's great industrial center, the city-owned public transport system was paralyzed by a 24-hour strike of employees demanding a 40-per-cent wage increase.

Soviet Workers No Longer Tied To Jobs By Law

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today Soviet workers no longer will be bound to their jobs by law.

The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) revoked a series of laws dating as far back as 1940, thereby ending prosecutions of workers who leave their jobs without permission. The announcement said workers who now want to leave their jobs can do so by providing two weeks' notice.

Can Be Fined Or Fired

Directors of factories and institutions retain, however, the power to fine workers for unjustified absences or to dismiss them. The dismissal still will be entered in the workers' labor book—a sort of passport all workers in the Soviet Union must carry. Such notations remain black marks against the workers.

The decree of the presidium, which acts between sessions for the Parliament, stipulated that persons serving sentences for having left their jobs without permission are released, and prosecutions pending on the same grounds are canceled.

1940 Law Revoked

The new regulations were made public in a bulletin of the Supreme Soviet dated April 25. A preamble said the measure was taken "as a result of the growth of conscientiousness in workers and the increase in their material well being, discipline in factories and institutions."

The decree revoked a law of Oct. 19, 1940, which permitted the state to transfer workers from one job to another, and other laws of 1951 and 1952 enacted to meet problems of agriculture. It annulled penalties previously imposed for leaving jobs without permission of authorities.

Red Radio Reports British Regret Frogman Incident

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Moscow radio said tonight Britain has expressed regrets over the mysterious incident involving a missing royal navy frogman and a Soviet cruiser after Russia called for an explanation.

The British government made no comment on the report.

Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb, 46, vanished April 19 near the Soviet cruiser that brought Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Britain on an official visit.

The British admiralty officially presumes Crabb is dead but has been mum otherwise.

The incident has embarrassed the British government. Opposition Laborites have forced the government to submit to a debate in Parliament on the question Monday.

The British press has hinted at a cloak-and-dagger mission. The Soviet press today accused Crabb of spying on the cruiser Ordzhonikidze.

Navy Flattops Are Belittled By Air Force

Could Deliver Only "Small" Strategic Blow, Twining Says

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The long struggle between the air generals and air admirals burst into the open again today as the Air Force declared the Navy's big carriers could deliver only a "small" strategic punch against a foe.

This caused some raised eyebrows inasmuch as President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson have recently been stressing the might of the Navy's aerial arm. They have done so in reply to critics who have accused the administration of dragging its feet in the development of long-range, land-based aerial striking power.

The new flare-up of interservice rivalry came to a head in a hearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on the administration's $33,650,000,000 defense budget. Witnesses were Secretary of the Air Force Quarles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff.

Thomas' View Recalled

Sen. Robertson (D-Va) recalled that Secretary of the Navy Thomas had indicated that mobile aircraft carriers, with powerful bombers and fighters, might be able to hit an enemy harder than bombers from fixed land bases.

Twining replied that in case of war with Russia, carrier-based planes would be helpful, particularly in searching out the enemy, but that the nuclear knockout of enemy air bases must be accomplished with land-based, long-range bombers.

He said that carrier-based aircraft have relatively short ranges and that carriers could not always be in strategic spots for bombing attacks.

Carriers' Location Factor

Although both Quarles and Twining emphasized that naval aviation is important, Twining said: "But we must be realistic about such factors as the probable location of the carriers, as well as the amount of striking power they could contribute—to the strategic offensive—which is small."

A strategic offensive is one aimed at knocking out an enemy's vital bases and, in general, destroying the foundations of his war effort.

Twining and Secretary Quarles both told the subcommittee the administration's "austerity budget" of $33,650,000,000 for the 1957 fiscal year is adequate. But Quarles emphasized that there can be "no escape from a substantially larger budget in fiscal year 1958."

Hammarskjold Says Next Move For Peace Up To Arabs, Israelis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said today the next move for a Middle East settlement is up to the Arabs and Israelis. He pledged his personal cooperation to this end but said he does not plan to return to the area.

"I think that the next step, humanly speaking, must be for the governments, for delegations here and for us all, to digest the result a little bit to see where we stand and not to rush on without having formed a balanced and considered opinion," Hammarskjold said at his first news conference since returning Sunday from a month in the Middle East.

He said he was not willing to recommend any next steps and added: "I feel strongly that that, more than ever, is in the hands of the governments in the region

Infant Attacked By Pet Margay Leaves Hospital

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Thomas Perry, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry of Beltsville, has been released from Johns Hopkins Hospital after a month of treatment for a foot wound inflicted by the sharp teeth of a pet margay.

U. Of Md. Board Considers ROTC Exemption Plan

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—The University of Maryland's board of regents said today it would give "serious consideration" to a proposal that religious conscientious objectors be exempt from military training courses at the University.

In other action today the regents approved a 5 million dollar capital improvements budget for 1957 that includes a $1,300,000 building for the College of Business and other classrooms.

Judge William P. Cole, who is reported planning to step down as board chairman, said a decision on the conscientious objector proposal would be made at a later date.

He told Atty. Fred E. Weisgal and two other Society of Friends spokesmen that the proposal would get the boards "earnest and serious consideration."

The Friends group has intervened in the case of Alan Barry Carr, 19-year-old sophomore and son of a minister, who was suspended briefly in March for refusing to attend ROTC classes.

Young Carr has said he feared acceptance of ROTC training courses would later jeopardize his claim as a conscientious objector before a draft board.

Carr is a member of the Home-wood Friends meeting in Baltimore and the son of the Rev. James S. Carr, pastor of St. Mary's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Weisgal and Doris Shamleffer and Marlin Dawson presented the formal plea to the board today.

Movie Censors Gain Even Split

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Maryland's motion picture censors were upheld in one case and reversed in another today by Judge Joseph R. Byrnes.

The City Court judge agreed that a scene in the United Artists Corp. film, "The Man With The Golden Arm," should be deleted. It shows actor Frank Sinatra getting an intravenous injection in his arm. The movie is concerned with dope addiction.

In another case, the judge ordered restored scenes cut from the Times Film Corp. movie "Naked Amazon" which purports to be a narrative of an expedition into the Brazilian jungles.

The judge said scenes of nude natives would have to be restored.

Woman Sentenced To Jail, Fined In Unusual Tax Case

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Jean Pauline Rippon, 47, of Cincinnati, was given 181 days confinement and a $10,000 fine today for failing to file a tax return on nearly $359,000 she received in gifts over a two-year period.

She was the first person ever prosecuted here for failing to file such a return.

She was the former supervisory nurse for Baltimore clothing merchant Louis Schloss. She had testified that the wealthy businessman had told her, "My money is your money—spend it as you see fit."

Prosecutor William F. Mosner told the court Mrs. Rippon depleted the Schloss estate of nearly $1,300,000 in a five-year period. He said she spent about $800,000 on herself.

Mrs. Rippon has a suit pending to invalidate a trust estate set up by Schloss years ago and now estimated at $4,000,000.

Her suit contends she is entitled to at least part of the estate, now marked for charitable purposes, because she was named to receive the residue of the estate.

Mrs. Rippon's attorney, M. Manning Marcus, argued that because of the rarity of such cases brought to trial, Mrs. Rippon should not be given a prison term.

McKeldin Assails Highway 'Showoffs'

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Show-offs are the "greatest of highway hazards and the worst of industrial risks," Gov. McKeldin told a State Safety Conference tonight.

"Those are the people on whom highway safety officials, police, industrial safety experts and personnel authorities have a job to do," he said.

McKeldin said the incurable show-off is a person who never grew out of the childhood phase of confusing recklessness with courage.

Parents, the governor said, should not permit the use of the family car by a boy or girl who has not developed the maturity to face the responsibilities of properly operating it.

second most severe decline of the year.

The mixed nature of the situation was shown by the advance of 30 cents in the industrial component, a decline of 20 cents in the rails, and a gain of 10 cents in utilities.

General Motors was the day's most active issue off 1/4 at 43 1/2 on 62,300 shares. It was the third most active yesterday off 1/2. The company's announcement of production cuts triggered selling in yesterday's market. The stock opened today on 19,000 shares at 43 1/4.

Hammarskjold Says Next Move For Peace Up To Arabs, Israelis

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said today the next move for a Middle East settlement is up to the Arabs and Israel. He pledged his personal cooperation to this end but said he does not plan to return to the area.

"I think that the next step, humanly speaking, must be for the governments, for delegations here and for us all, to digest the result a little bit to see where we stand and not to rush on without having formed a balanced and considered opinion," Hammarskjold said at his first news conference since returning Sunday from a month in the Middle East.

He said he was not willing to recommend any next steps and added: "I feel strongly that that, more than ever, is in the hands of the governments in the region

U. Of Md. Board Considers ROTC Exemption Plan

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—The University of Maryland's board of regents said today it would give "serious consideration" to a proposal that religious conscientious objectors be exempt from military training courses at the University.

In other action today the regents approved a 5 million dollar capital improvements budget for 1957 that includes a $1,300,000 building for the College of Business and other classrooms.

Judge William P. Cole, who is reported planning to step down as board chairman, said a decision on the conscientious objector proposal would be made at a later date.

He told Atty. Fred E. Weisgal and two other Society of Friends spokesmen that the proposal would get the boards "earnest and serious consideration."

The Friends group has intervened in the case of Alan Barry Carr, 19-year-old sophomore and son of a minister, who was suspended briefly in March for refusing to attend ROTC classes.

Young Carr has said he feared acceptance of ROTC training courses would later jeopardize his claim as a conscientious objector before a draft board.

Carr is a member of the Home-wood Friends meeting in Baltimore and the son of the Rev. James S. Carr, pastor of St. Mary's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Weisgal and Doris Shamleffer and Marlin Dawson presented the formal plea to the board today.

Woman Sentenced To Jail, Fined In Unusual Tax Case

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Jean Pauline Rippon, 47, of Cincinnati, was given 181 days confinement and a $10,000 fine today for failing to file a tax return on nearly $350,000 she received in gifts over a two-year period.

She was the first person ever prosecuted here for failing to file such a return.

She was the former supervisory nurse for Baltimore clothing merchant Louis Schloss. She had testified that the wealthy businessman had told her, "My money is your money—spend it as you see fit."

Prosecutor William F. Mosner told the court Mrs. Rippon depleted the Schloss estate of nearly $1,300,000 in a five-year period. He said she spent about $800,000 on herself.

Mrs. Rippon has a suit pending to invalidate a trust estate set up by Schloss years ago and now estimated at $4,000,000.

Her suit contends she is entitled to at least part of the estate, now marked for charitable purposes, because she was named to receive the residue of the estate.

Mrs. Rippon's attorney, M. Manning Marcus, argued that because of the rarity of such cases brought to trial, Mrs. Rippon should not be given a prison term.

Market Resists Decline, Closes With Steady Tone

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The stock market built up strong resistance to a decline today, on the heels of yesterday's sharp fall, and managed to close with a steady tone.

Prices were mixed over a range of around 2 points either way with most major divisions showing a wide mixture of gains and losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at $187.90 after having been down 50 cents at noon. It lost $2.50 yesterday.

The mixed nature of the situation was shown by the advance of 30 cents in the industrial component, a decline of 20 cents in the rails, and a gain of 10 cents in utilities.

General Motors was the day's most active issue off 1/2 at 43 1/2 on 62,300 shares. It was the third most active yesterday off 1/2. The company's announcement of production cuts triggered selling in yesterday's market. The stock opened today on 19,000 shares at 43 1/4.

McKeldin Assails Highway 'Showoffs'

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Show-offs are the "greatest of highway hazards and the worst of industrial risks," Gov. McKeldin told a State Safety Conference tonight.

"Those are the people on whom highway safety officials, police, industrial safety experts and personnel authorities have a job to do," he said.

McKeldin said the incurable show-off is a person who never grew out of the childhood phase of confusing recklessness with courage.

Parents, the governor said, should not permit the use of the family car by a boy or girl who has not developed the maturity to face the responsibilities of properly operating it.

The main current of the Gulf Stream is about 450 miles off the coast of New York.

Ann Russell To Become Bride Of John J. Kelley, Jr.

Miss Ann Frances Russell, daughter of Mrs. Anna McMullen Russell, 507 Washington Street, will become the bride of John Joseph Kelley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Kelley, Alexandria, Va., today.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at a low nuptial mass at 11 a. m., in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Right Rev. Monsignor J. Lawrence Kilkenny officiating. Vases of white snapdragons, gladioli and lilies are being used with candelabra of white tapers in the decorations of the altar.

Miss Elizabeth Russell will be her sister's maid of honor, while Mrs. Walter Foley, Silver Spring, and Miss Mary McMullen, Philadelphia, cousins of the bride, are bridesmaids. Thomas Mullaney is serving as Mr. Kelley's best man. Walter Foley and Conrad Zimmerman are the ushers. Thomas Cuskey, Jr., will be vocalist, accompanied by the organ by Prof. Peter Schumacher, who also will play the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her uncle, John H. Glick, will be attired in a gown of hand clipped imported lace. It is fashioned with short sleeves, enhanced by gauntlets in the same lace, has a scalloped neckline and the three tiered cascaded skirt sweeps from the waist to the floor. Her double tiered circular illusion veil is held by a peaked half hat of Rosepoint lace. Completing her costume, she is carrying a bouquet of lily of the valley with a white orchid center.

Her attendants' gowns are of Swiss embroidered organdy over taffeta. They, too, have scalloped neckline and bell skirt with satin midriff. With them they are wearing matching slippers and crowns of lilacs. They will carry matching cascade bouquets. Miss Russell's is petal pink and the bridesmaids' mint green.

Mrs. Russell has chosen a champagne colored gown of mouseline de soie, trimmed with matching lace, which has a cocktail length and hat of nylon net with champagne shade flower. Gold caducate complete her costume. Mrs. Kelley has selected a periwinkle blue chiffon gown, hat and slippers for the wedding. Her corsage is of white baby orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Ursuline Academy and attended Georgetown Junior College. Prior to her resignation, she was employed at the Pentagon. Mr. Kelley is a graduate of George Washington High School, Alexandria, and served in the United States Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune, N. C. He is manager of his father's dry

Mrs. Russell is entertaining the immediate families and out-of-town friends at a wedding breakfast, honoring her daughter and her bridal party. It will be at the Cumberland Country Club, following the ceremony. The bridal motif is being carried out in the decorations and the tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their southern wedding trip, the bride has chosen a black and white check coat dress, with black slippers, trimmed in red, white call bag, trimmed in black patent leather and matching hat. Upon their return Mr. Kelley and his bride will reside in Alexandria.

I LEARN FROM WATCHING MAMA

The school of experience has a wide reputation, and many are those who are proud to be its alumni.

But there is another school, an elementary school. And though it's less heralded, it turns out eager scholars year after year.

It hasn't really any name, and certainly no ivy-covered halls. Classes are held in the students' own homes. And the tuition is a wealth of love contributed by pupil and teacher alike.

But this is the best preparatory school in the world. For whatever it teaches has a place in the life of its graduates forever.

And the most encouraging sign on the spiritual horizons of America is the greater emphasis now being placed on the Bible, prayer, and religious education in the school of "watching mama!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake and the sake of his children. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

I LEARN FROM WATCHING MAMA

The school of experience has a wide reputation, and many are those who are proud to be its alumni.

But there is another school, an elementary school. And though it's less heralded, it turns out eager scholars year after year.

It hasn't really any name, and certainly no ivy-covered halls. Classes are held in the students' own homes. And the tuition is a wealth of love contributed by pupil and teacher alike.

But this is the best preparatory school in the world. For whatever it teaches has a place in the life of its graduates forever.

And the most encouraging sign on the spiritual horizons of America is the greater emphasis now being placed on the Bible, prayer, and religious education in the school of "watching mama!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his community and nation. (2) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mother Wants To Go Back To Dining Room

After all the daily thought and effort she puts into the preparation of family meals, Mother remains convinced of the necessity for a separate dining room where her brood can give undivided attention to the results of her efforts.

This is reported to have been the consensus at the Women's Congress on Housing staged at Washington under the auspices of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

To be sure, the dining "area" that is no more than an extension of the living room does give small homes a more spacious air. But Mother is thinking along other lines. She believes the whole family should sit down together at the table "to teach the children how to eat graciously and in comfort."

One mother said she wanted a chance to teach her offspring manners without the competition of TV.

It's a safe guess that the dining room of the average American home has never been less in use than it is today. While some of this can be blamed on increased dining out, much more of it can be attributed to television programs at meal time. Many a youngster of pre-school age has had a majority of his evening meals seated in front of the TV set partaking of fifth-class video fare.

How such a youngster can be expected to bridge the gap between plate and lip successfully with his eyes glued on the television set is a mystery. But the opinions voiced at Washington indicate that mothers are in a mood to change the situation.

What about the remainder of the house? It would be a story-and-a-half, in a "cozy" mixture of traditional and modern design, costing between $10,000 and $15,000. There would be two living rooms—one a sort of old-fashioned parlor and the other an activities room, a functional kitchen, three bedrooms, and one and a half baths. Mother favors a large yard. A picture window? Only if it frames a pleasing vista instead of a view of some neighbor's picture window.

The Gist Of The Problem

Everybody really prefers peace to war, particularly a war fought with atom and hydrogen bombs which can destroy the earth. The only argument about the bombs is how many it will take to destroy the earth and of what size? When the Russians or Adbai Stevenson or anyone else objects to hydrogen bomb testing, it is because the destructive capacity of a hydrogen bomb can be in its fall-out, and each one counts, whether it is used in warfare or as a test. Also there is no limit to the possible size of a hydrogen bomb. What that could mean is that hypothetically one bomb could be made large enough to destroy the world.

Facing that, everybody is for peace. Certainly, President Eisenhower is as much for peace as Party Secretary Khrushchev is for peace. The difference, however, is that Khrushchev demands that the United States make all the concessions so that they favor Soviet Russia, whereas Eisenhower wants peace on the basis that all nations conform to a general rule with special privileges for none. If the hydrogen bomb is to be abolished as a weapon of war, there must be universal inspection not only of stockpiles and manufacturing plants but also of the sources of raw materials. There must be constant and publicly-available reports and there must be a method for control of all operations. In this situation it is not sound to trust any country.

The Russians have made great strides in empire building and in creating a modern industry since 1939 when they went to war. But for them war now is especially dangerous because they require time to consolidate their gains, to justify the enormous sacrifices of the Russian and satellite peoples by raising their standards of living, and to strengthen the regime that has taken over both the party and the government since Stalin died.

In a broadcast from Moscow in English, this is made perfectly clear:

"The Soviet Union is vitally interested in peace because without it our plans for economic and cultural development are not feasible. We Soviet men and women would like to see the efforts and funds now being expended on defense used for improving the living conditions of the peoples . . ."

Then this broadcast went on to say:

"We could be enjoying the highest living standard in the world today were it not for the funds and efforts we had to expend in repulsing the aggressors and invaders throughout the existence of Soviet power. Our chief goal on the home scene is to extend these various living standards, and that is why on the international scene we follow a policy of nonaggression, of constantly working for peace . . ."

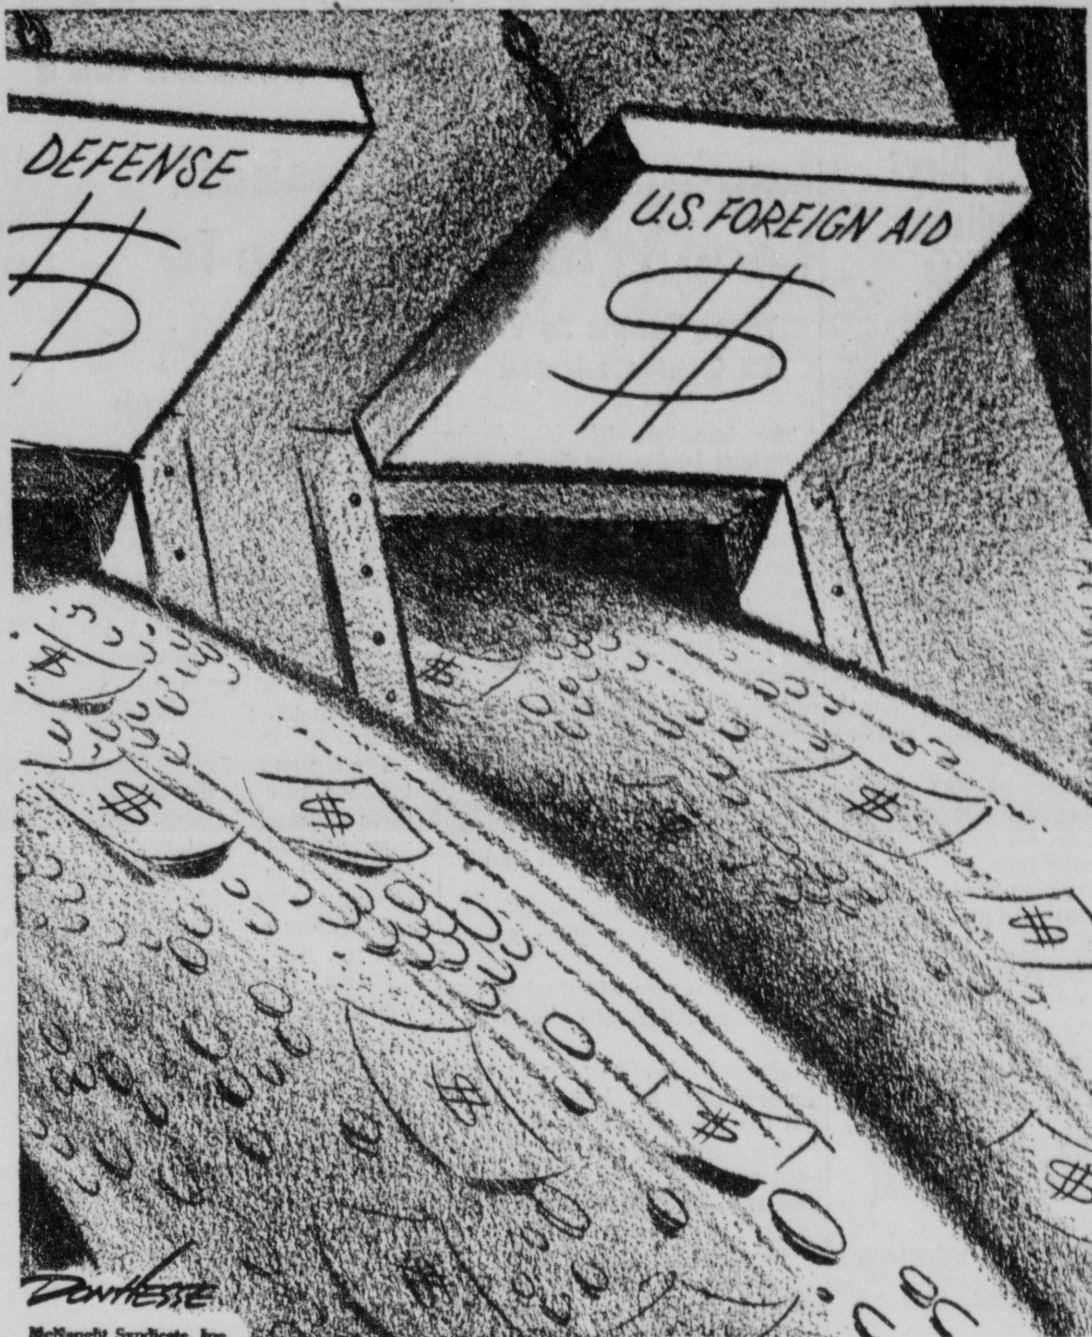

It is interesting that a broadcast from Moscow should be so urgent, so clear-cut, in this particular respect. The visit to Great Britain of Khrushchev and Bulganin it was hoped would reduce "world tension," when, as a matter of fact, there need not have been any world tensions had it not been, since 1943 (Teheran), Russian policy to build a world empire on the skeleton of the collapsing empires of the Western European countries.

The new regime may say and it undoubtedly does say that suspicions of their motives are based on the conduct and decisions of Stalin who is dead. They are willing to accept all the gains that Stalin made for them but none of the disadvantages of Stalinism. Were these men new to the Kremlin, perhaps a revolutionary group who had overthrown Stalin, there could be some justice to their plea. But these men were Stalin's assistants who carried out his orders and helped him in all his tortuous enterprises. It is impossible to regard them as other than Stalin's assistants now risen to his former powers. It is therefore impossible to remove from them the aura of suspicion that encircles them, and what is more Khrushchev proved that this general attitude is correct whenever he lost his temper in Great Britain.

True, nobody wants war, least of all the American people who have lost much and gained nothing in two wars. But also, the American people cannot be caught agreeing to all of Khrushchev's propositions without checks and controls and then find that while they have lessened their defenses, the Russian has strengthened his aggressive powers. We may be dumb, but not that dumb.

The Gates Are Still Wide Open

George Appointment Emphasizes Bipartisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—For many weeks the idea of a withdrawal by Senator George, Democrat, of Georgia from his prospective race for reelection has been quietly discussed here.

This correspondent learned about it in conference about 10 days ago from a prominent Georgia business man who happens to be a close friend of both Senator George and former Governor Herman Talmadge.

"We who are friends of both men," he said, "feel that it would be wiser for Senator George to withdraw not only because the strain of the campaign would be great for a man of his advanced age but because we feel that a contest should, if possible, be avoided."

Letter From Ike Ready

When asked at the time what the senator's plans might be, the answer given was that these same friends hoped President Eisenhower would find an opportunity to use the senator's services, since it would be an excellent way to emphasize bipartisan cooperation on foreign policy.

It is to be hoped that, when news of the withdrawal of Senator George became known on Wednesday through a copyrighted article in the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle and was later confirmed the same day by the senator himself in Washington, there was ready at once a letter from the President offering to the Georgian a post of great importance in international affairs.

There was nothing prearranged about it in the sense that this action was designed to influence the senator's decision. Actually the senator didn't make up his mind till a few days ago that he wouldn't make the race. Incidentally, the volunteer workers in his headquarters in Atlanta are reported by the United Press to have been caught flatfooted on Wednesday by the developments in Washington and had already mailed out 30,000 pamphlets and 28,000 letters relating to his prospective campaign. So it was apparent they were not notified of Mr. George's decision till the last moment.

Influenced By Barkley Death

It is understood that the death of Senator Barkley last week, due in part to the strain of public speaking, had much to do with the final decision by Senator George to avoid another campaign. The White House knew, of course, that he was considering the move and planned its action accordingly. For it was deemed an excellent opportunity to get the benefit of Senator

George's services and to accentuate the bipartisan aspects of foreign policy. Apart from this, there is a strong bond of friendship between the President and Senator George.

Politically, the action of Senator George does not necessarily mean that Georgia will be without a contest this fall. The Democratic primary, which is equivalent to an election, will bring out opposition to former Governor Talmadge, who has already announced his candidacy. It is believed that some of the anti-Talmadge groups have felt they would have a better chance against the former governor if they had a younger and more enthusias-

Cross-Eyed Youngster Should Be Examined Early

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A cross-eyed child is never too young to be examined by a competent ophthalmologist. The exception occurs during the early months of life when cross-eye (strabismus, or squint) is normal. The tyke has not developed binocular vision and the eyes wander in all directions. That Ben Turpin look is none too flattering when the parents put up Junior for display.

Professional advice should be sought when squint continues. As a rule, the eyes can be straightened without surgery but there is no way to make predictions along this line. Most ophthalmologists do a complete examination because the condition has various causes, requiring individual treatment.

Conservative methods consist of glasses, orthotics, or the use of a patch over the good eye. The aim of remedial lenses is to pull the muscles from one side to the other so that the tot can focus on an object. But glasses and children do not always go together and a little psychology may be needed to get the best results.

Youngsters hate to be different and spectacles are a liability when playing. In addition, glasses must improve vision or they will be kept in the drawer more often than on the nose. The lenses must be geared to the child's world. A youngster concentrates on things at hand and becomes more interested in distant objects as he grows older. As a result, periodic changes are necessary to allow him to see best those things that are of interest to him.

How long should a boy or girl wear specs for correction of cross-eye? Ophthalmologists usually suggest one to two months as a minimum trial period. Another plan is indicated when squint is not improving.

The use of eye drops containing atropine is the second main type of treatment. They are instilled to put the good eye out of commission so that the child will be forced to use the bad eye. Covering the good eye with a patch attached to the glasses or the skin has the same effect but to be successful, the patch must be worn constantly, and the youngster must be encouraged to read, sew, or watch TV.

Eye exercise (orthoptic treatment) are reserved for certain forms of strabismus in which a neuromuscular disturbance exists. Training will help both eyes to work in harmony, regardless of the method used.

But when these treatments fail, surgery is necessary to preserve binocular vision and to improve the appearance. The sooner correction is made, the better the eventual outcome.

Hospital Built At St. Lo To Repair Devastation Of Normandy Invasion

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It's been nine years since several million people all over the U.S.A. from school-children to businessmen to junior chambers of commerce to labor unions, sent the Friendship Train to Western France.

That was in the dark days of 1947 when France was torn with riots and a railroad strike; when Communists struck the agricultural workers of Italy just as the crop was ready for harvest; when sabotage squads were sent from Moscow to wreck French trains; and when 120 ships lay tied up at Le Havre just one day before the Friend Ship arrived.

A lot has happened in the nine years since then. But this week in France the partial contribution of the Friendship Train culminated with the dedication of the French-American Hospital near Saint-Lo. This, the scene of the most devastating battle of the Normandy invasion, where Gen. Omar Bradley finally broke through the German hedgerows, was picked by Americans to build a hospital as one small contribution toward reconstructing the terrible damage of 1944.

The hospital was a long time in building. Both French and American money went into it. The contribution from the Friendship Train took the form of insurance money paid when the Communists set fire to a Paris warehouse containing some of the Friendship food.

Cuair McCullough, president of the WGAL radio-TV stations in Lancaster, Pa., who did such a good job in making the Friendship Train a success, patriotically flew to France as a goodwill ambassador for the dedication.

Lovely, lively Mrs. Myron Cowan, whose husband did such a good job as U.S. ambassador to the Philippines and Belgium, was chatting at a cocktail party with Ned Foote, the ambitious Justice Department official who aspires to head up the Antitrust Division.

Mrs. Cowan remarked on the fact that 80 to 90 per cent of the press in the United States was strongly for Eisenhower.

"What about the Washington Post and Times Herald?" asked Foote.

"It supported Eisenhower," reminded Mrs. Cowan.

"But what about those Herblock cartoons in the Post?" argued Foote. "They're terrible. He's a Communist. He ought to be suppressed."

"Nothing could be further from the truth," replied Mrs. Cowan. "Mr. Block has won all sorts of prizes. It's easy to call someone a Communist, but Herb Block's certainly not in that category."

"Why, he even drew a cartoon of Vice President Nixon," remonstrated Foote, "coming up from a sewer."

"That," said Mrs. Cowan, "is exactly where he belongs."

O. B. Williamson, Bellflower, Calif. — The question asked on "Youth Want To Know" of Eric Johnson, special Eisenhower ambassador to the Near East, was as follows:

"Mr. Johnston, last week our guest was Drew Pearson, and he mentioned that it took you almost four months to see President Eisenhower when you got back from your Near East observation last year. Why did it take you four months to see him?"

"Well, I think Mr. Pearson is a little erroneous on that," Johnston replied. "The President has always seen me at any time that I wished to see him on 24 hours' notice."

The fact is, however, that Johnston returned to Washington from Palestine and Egypt on October 21, 1955. He did not see Eisenhower until February 15, which was just before Johnston departed for Japan. These dates are confirmed in both the N.Y. Times and the records of the State Department.

I met Mr. Johnston at a reception one day after his Youth-Wants-To-Know statement and reminded him of these dates. He admitted I was correct and gave me his private apology. Eisenhower did not see Johnston for four months because, first, he was ill; second, he was not then especially interested in the Near East.

Mothers In Focus

By Brother Barnabas

Tomorrow every dutiful son will place a lei of forget-me-nots around his mother's shoulders and give her her place in the sun.

If she has passed within the portals he will keep her memory green; if she is still in the land of the living he will shower her with attentions and tokens of love in which his grandchildren will share.

It will be Mother's Day, culminating National Family Week—an annual event sponsored by various religious and cultural bodies with increasing emphasis year by year.

It's high time for this emphasis, for family matters as they now stand are in a precarious situation in our domestic economy, with broken homes, juvenile delinquency and divorce on a rampage.

The Answer Was "No"

One paterfamilias of a happy family I know who is alive to the crisis we are in took home a book on "Marriage and Family Life," recently prepared to meet the current issue.

His young hopeful looking over his shoulder piped up, "Daddy, are you expecting to get a divorce?"

A million dollars now couldn't buy Whistler's "Mother," which he titled "An Arrangement in Gray and Black." The picture has come to signify sweetness and light, but it is also a reminder of the good old days when mothers were clothed with modesty and somber garb, in contrast with the bizarre self-revealing costumes women wear today, keeping within the law, and in some places without.

Motherhood is both a science and an art. The fine art of motherhood is so to train and discipline the child that some day he will look back and thank his mother for her punishments, even. And yet she will not bound him with the platitudes "Mother knows best," remembering that mothers were not made to be leaned upon, but to make leaning unnecessary.

Without this discipline he may think of his mother as a commodity, to be liquidated by a bodkin or a planted time bomb, when it serves his purpose.

Here is a child's appraisal of his mother a la the Hoosier Poet:

My mother she's so good to me,
Ef I was good as I could be,
I wouldn't be as good — no, sir —
Can't any boy be good as her!
She loves me when I'm glad er sad;
She loves me when I'm good or bad;
An', what's a funniest thing, she says
She loves me when she punishes.

James Johnson's Mother

"I went to the Closet and took down my Academic Gown and the mortar-board Cap and the Hood that belongeth thereto, and went to the university and joined the Academic Procession, walking beside the President.

"As the Procession was halted at the Gymnasium door there pushed through the Crowd a Middle-aged woman, her face red from pushing, and she said unto me: 'They have given me no seat, and I am James Johnson's mother.'

"Then I left my place at the Head of the Procession and went to the head of the center aisle, and called the Chief Marshal to me and said: 'Here is a lady of Distinction, and a friend of mine. Give unto her the Best Seat Available.'

"And the Procession still halted while he escorted her down the center aisle, and moved someone out of a Seat Way down in Front, and there did he seat the mother of James Johnson.

"And when I delivered my Oration, I put in a paragraph addressed to the young folk concerning the mothers and fathers who had sacrificed to make this Great Day possible, and I looked down and saw that the Mother of James Johnson was wiping her eyes.

"Now the graduates on that day were Four Hundred and Thirty and Two, and their names were read in a loud voice as they walked across the Platform, trying hard not to step on their rented gowns and disgrace themselves.

"And half-way down the Alphabetick list there walked across the platform James Johnson, Bachelor of Arts, and I was of those who applauded him. But I was also applauding his mother."

Two Alma Maters

Many readers of this space have two Alma Maters; the college that was the matrix of their cultural ideals, and the mother beyond the jasper walls.

We will have both if we are worthy scions not by mere lip-service, but by the devotion of lives sacred to their memory.

When William Howard Taft was President he sent a check to help a little church in Millbury, Mass., with these words: "Just in memory of my mother. I know she would like to have me do something of that sort."

What this country needs is a renaissance of good old-fashioned motherhood, says

●Mother Wants To Go Back To Dining Room

After all the daily thought and effort she puts into the preparation of family meals, Mother remains convinced of the necessity for a separate dining room where her brood can give undivided attention to the results of her efforts.

This is reported to have been the consensus at the Women's Congress on Housing staged at Washington under the auspices of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

To be sure, the dining "area" that is no more than an extension of the living room does give small homes a more spacious air. But Mother is thinking along other lines. She believes the whole family should sit down together at the table "to teach the children how to eat graciously and in comfort."

One mother said she wanted a chance to teach her offspring manners without the competition of TV.

It's a safe guess that the dining room of the average American home has never been less in use than it is today. While some of this can be blamed on increased dining out, much more of it can be attributed to television programs at meal time. Many a youngster of pre-school age has had a majority of his evening meals seated in front of the TV set partaking of fifth-class video fare.

How such a youngster can be expected to bridge the gap between plate and lip successfully with his eyes glued on the television set is a mystery. But the opinions voiced at Washington indicate that mothers are in a mood to change the situation.

What about the remainder of the house? It would be a story-and-a-half, in a "cozy" mixture of traditional and modern design, costing between $10,000 and $15,000. There would be two living rooms—one a sort of old-fashioned parlor and the other an activities room, a functional kitchen, three bedrooms, and one and a half baths. Mother favors a large yard. ## These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Gist Of The Problem

Everybody really prefers peace to war, particularly a war fought with atom and hydrogen bombs which can destroy the earth. The only argument about the bombs is how many it will take to destroy the earth and of what size? When the Russians or Adlai Stevenson or anyone else objects to hydrogen bomb testing, it is because the destructive capacity of a hydrogen bomb can be in its fall-out, and each one counts, whether it is used in warfare or as a test. Also there is no limit to the possible size of a hydrogen bomb. What that could mean is that hypothetically one bomb could be made large enough to destroy the world.

Facing that, everybody is for peace. Certainly, President Eisenhower is as much for peace as Party Secretary Khrushchev is for peace. The difference, however, is that Khrushchev demands that the United States make all the concessions so that they favor Soviet Russia, whereas Eisenhower wants peace on the basis that all nations conform to a general rule with special privileges for none. If the hydrogen bomb is to be abolished as a weapon of war, there must be universal inspection not only of stockpiles and manufacturing plants but also of the sources of raw materials. There must be constant and publicly-available reports and there must be a method for control of all operations. In this situation it is not sound to trust any country.

The Russians have made great strides in empire building and in creating a modern industry since 1939 when they went to war. But for them war now is especially dangerous because they require time to consolidate their gains, to justify the enormous sacrifices of the Russian and satellite peoples by raising their standards of living, and to strengthen the regime that has taken over both the party and the government since Stalin died.

In a broadcast from Moscow in English, this is made perfectly clear:

"The Soviet Union is vitally interested in peace because without it our plans for economic and cultural development are not feasible. We Soviet men and women would like to see the efforts and funds now being expended on defense used for improving the living conditions of the peoples . . ."

Then this broadcast went on to say:

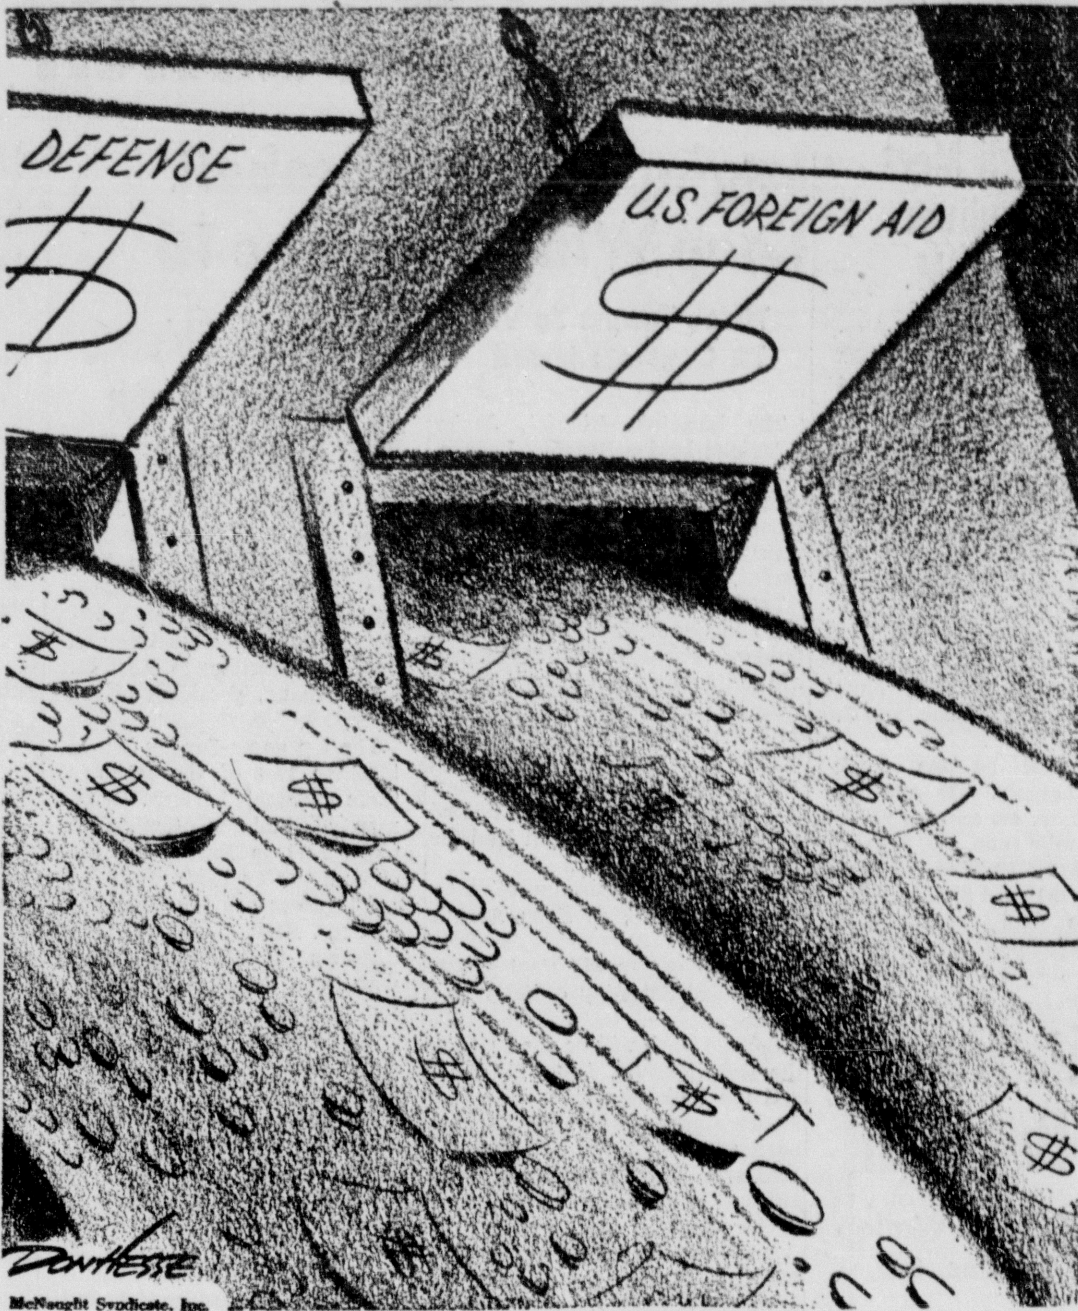

"We could be enjoying the highest living standard in the world today were it not for the funds and efforts we had to expend in repulsing the aggressors and invaders throughout the existence of Soviet power. Our chief goal on the home scene is to extend these various living standards, and that is why on the international scene we follow a policy of nonaggression, of constantly working for peace . . ."

It is interesting that a broadcast from Moscow should be so urgent, so clear-cut, in this particular respect. The visit to Great Britain of Khrushchev and Bulganin it was hoped would reduce "world tension," when, as a matter of fact, there need not have been any world tensions had it not been, since 1943 ("Teheran"), Russian policy to build a world empire on the skeleton of the collapsing empires of the Western European countries.

The new regime may say and it undoubtedly does say that suspicions of their motives are based on the conduct and decisions of Stalin who is dead. They are willing to accept all the gains that Stalin made for them but none of the disadvantages of Stalinism. Were these men new to the Kremlin, perhaps a revolutionary group who had overthrown Stalin, there could be some justice to their plea. But these men were Stalin's assistants who carried out his orders and helped him in all his tortuous enterprises. It is impossible to regard them as other than Stalin's assistants now risen to his former powers. It is therefore impossible to remove from them the aura of suspicion that encircles them, and what is more Khrushchev proved that this general attitude is correct whenever he lost his temper in Great Britain.

True, nobody wants war, least of all the American people who have lost much and gained nothing in two wars. But also, the American people cannot be caught agreeing to all of Khrushchev's propositions without checks and controls and then find that while they have lessened their defenses, the Russian has strengthened his aggressive powers. We may be dumb, but not that dumb.

George Appointment Emphasizes Bipartisanship

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—For many weeks the idea of a withdrawal by Senator George, Democrat, of Georgia from his prospective race for reelection has been quietly discussed here.

This correspondent learned about it in conference about 10 days ago from a prominent Georgia business man who happens to be a close friend of both Senator George and former Governor Herman Talmadge.

"We who are friends of both men," he said, "feel that it would be wiser for Senator George to withdraw not only because the strain of the campaign would be great for a man of his advanced age but because we feel that a contest should, if possible, be avoided."

Letter From Ike Ready

When asked at the time what the senator's plans might be, the answer given was that these same friends hoped President Eisenhower would find an opportunity to use the senator's services, since it would be an excellent way to emphasize bipartisan cooperation on foreign policy.

It is to be hoped that, when news of the withdrawal of Senator George became known on Wednesday through a copyrighted article in the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle and was later confirmed the same day by the senator himself in Washington, there was ready at once a letter from the President offering to the Georgian a post of great importance in international affairs.

Without this discipline he may think of his mother as a commodity, to be liquidated by a bodkin or a planted time bomb, when it serves his purpose.

Here is a child's appraisal of his mother a la the Hoosier Poet:

My mother she's so good to me,
Eef I was good as I could be,
I wouldn't be as good — no, sir —
Can't any boy be good as her!
She loves me when I'm glad er sad;
She loves me when I'm good
or bad;
An', what's a funniest thing,
she says
She loves me when she punishes.

Safed the Sage whom many old-timers will remember as a student of Lincolnia, a preacher and writer of distinction, was the orator chosen to give the commencement address at a certain university.

James Johnson's Mother

"I went to the Closet and took down my Academic Gown and the mortar-board Cap and the Hood that belonged thereto, and went to the university and joined the Academic Procession, walking beside the President.

"As the Procession was halted at the Gymnasium door there pushed through the Crowd a Middle-aged woman, her face red from pushing, and she said unto me: 'They have given me no seat, and I am James Johnson's mother.'

"Then I left my place at the Head of the Procession and went to the head of the center aisle, and called the Chief Marshal to me and said: 'Here is a lady of Distinction, and a friend of mine. Give unto her the Best Seat Available.'

"And the Procession still halted while he escorted her down the center aisle, and moved someone out of a Seat Way Down in Front, and there did he seat the mother of James Johnson.

"And when I delivered my Oration, I put in a paragraph addressed to the young folk concerning the mothers and fathers who had sacrificed to make this Great Day possible, and I looked down and saw that the Mother of James Johnson was wiping her eyes.

"Now the graduates on that day were Four Hundred and Thirty and Two, and their names were read in a loud voice as they walked across the Platform, trying hard not to step on their rented gowns and disgrace themselves.

"And half-way down the Alphabetical list there walked across the platform James Johnson, Bachelor of Arts, and I was of those who applauded him. But I was also applauding his mother."

Two Alma Maters

Many readers of this space have two Alma Maters; the college that was the matrix of their cultural ideals, and the mother beyond the jasper walls.

We will have both if we are worthy scions not by mere lip-service, but by the devotion of lives sacred to their memory.

When William Howard Taft was President he sent a check to help a little church in Millbury, Mass., with these words: "Just in memory of my mother. I know she would like to have me do something of that sort."

What this country needs is a renaissance of good old-fashioned motherhood, says

Fort Hill Defeats LaSalle, 1-0, For Seventh Straight Win

Squeeze Play Decides Game In 7th Frame

Sentinels Cop Lead In Bi-State, City; Markley Is Victor

BI-STATE CONFERENCE
Fort Hill	W 1	LaSalle	L 1
Allegany	W 2	Hyndman	L 2
Valley	W 3	Flintstone	L 3
St. Savage	W 4	Philadelph	L 4

Scoring the only run of the game on a "squeeze" play engineered by Galen McGregor and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis with one out in the 7th and final inning, Fort Hill High School defeated LaSalle High's Explorers in a 1-0 thriller at Fort Hill Field yesterday and took over sole possession of first place in the Bi-State Conference and city baseball races.

The victory was Fort Hill's 8th in nine outings in the conference and knocked LaSalle (8-2) off the top rung. Fort Hill's triumph, seventh in a row, also moved Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels to the top of the city race with a 2-1 record, thus breaking a three-way tie for first place. LaSalle, victor over Fort Hill in the series opener, 2-1, had won five in a row prior to yesterday's game.

Jesse Markley Victor
Jesse Markley and Lefty Bill Roberts, who hooked up in a slab battle on April 13, resumed hostilities in yesterday's game but this time Markley was the victor. He tossed a one-hitter that blew came in the first inning when Regis Fair, second up, belted a triple but perished on third base. In notching his fourth win against a single setback in the Bi-State, Markley struck out six and issued three bases on balls.

Roberts gave up six hits, four of which were shared by Lewis and Donnie Irons, fanned four and walked six. His record is now 1-1. WALKS SETS UP SCORE

A base on balls to McGregor set up the deciding run in the 7th frame. Tommy Shaw's sacrifice bunt down the first base line sent McGregor to second and the latter raced to third by the time Shaw was thrown out at first. Lewis laid down a neat bunt between the pitcher and first baseman and beat it out for a hit, with first base uncovered, as McGregor sprinted home with the winning tally.

In the first inning McGregor slammed a triple but was nipped at the plate on an attempted "squeeze play" bunt by Lewis. An argument ensued over alleged interference at the plate but Umpire Cecil Warnick ruled the runner was out and the decision struck. It was the same combination, McGregor and Lewis, however, that worked the winning "squeeze" in the last inning.

The game was punctuated by brilliant fielding on the part of Richard Murray, LaSalle's freshman shortstop, and Donnie Irons and Frank Valentine, Fort Hill outfielders, both of whom contributed nice running catches.

Three Games Postponed
The weather man put the damper on the three other Bi-State contests scheduled yesterday. The Flintstone at Bruce game was postponed until May 16 and wet grounds also forced postponement of the Hyndman-Valley and Mt. Savage-Beall tilts. Fog also was responsible for the calling off of the latter contest which may be rescheduled for Thursday, May 17.

Phils, St. Louis Swap Pitchers

Dickson, Wehmeier, Haddix In Trade

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 11 (INS)—The Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals announced a five-player trade today which both clubs feel will bolster their pitching departments.

The Cards obtained two veteran starting hurlers in Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier, both right-handers, to go with their powerhouse batting brigade.

And the Phils, in the throes of a seven-game losing streak, got youth and a lefthander. Key man obtained by the Phils is Harvey Haddix, 30-year-old southpaw. With him came Ben Flowers (1-1) and relief pitcher Stu Miller (0-1), both righties.

Neither Dickson, 39, nor Wehmeier, 29, has won yet this season for Manager Mayo Smith, while Haddix has a 1-0 log.

For Dickson, it was a trip back to the team for which he started his major league career in 1939. The cards sold him to the Pirates for a reported $125,000 in 1949, and he came to Philadelphia two years ago for an estimated $70,000.

Wehmeier was purchased from Cincinnati in 1954. Haddix was a 20-game winner for St. Louis in 1953, and registered 18-13 the following season, although he slipped last year to a 12-16 mark.

Beats Mel Patton's Mark By Sprinting Distance In 20.1

DURHAM, N.C., May 11 (AP)—Dave Sime, Duke's sensational speedster, bettered a world's record in the 220-yard dash and broke three Atlantic Coast Conference track meet records today in a dazzling performance.

Sime, a readheaded sophomore from Fair Lawn, N.J., was clocked by four watches at 20.1 seconds in the 220-yard dash to break the world's record of 20.2 seconds set in May 7, 1949, by Mel Patton of Southern California.

The muscular youth, regarded as a bright Olympic prospect, set new conference meet records in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles and the 220-yard dash.

Conference records also fell in the javelin and the shot put during today's qualifying trials.

Sime stepped the 100-yard dash in 9.5 seconds and was clocked at 23.5 in the 220-yard low hurdles. Only last Saturday he set a world's record in the same hurdles event with 22.2, "topping the old mark held by Harrison Dillard.

Maryland Coach Jim Kehoe said he believes Sime can run the 220-yard dash in less than 20 seconds.

"He's fantastic," Kehoe said, marveling at the youth. "He's going to be a very bright star on our track horizon."

Maryland's unbeaten team qualified 17 players for tomorrow's finals starting at 2:30 p.m. Duke qualified 14 and North Carolina, Clemson and South Carolina, seven each.

Maryland is favored to win the team championship. The Terps are strong in the distance races.

Capon Bridge Tops Paw Paw, 7-5, Stays In Sectional Race

PAW PAW, May 11 (AP)—Capon Bridge High School remained in the running for sectional honors today by defeating Paw Paw High School's Pirates by the score of 7-5.

Berkeley Springs leads the four-school sectional race with a 5-1 record while Capon Bridge is second with 4-1. If Capon can win at Wardsville Tuesday the race will end in a tie, necessitating a play-off game between the leaders to determine the regional entry. Capon Bridge and Berkeley split even during the regular season.

Today's win gave Coach Cliff Towles' team a season record of 7-3. Bobby Lovett notched his third triumph of the campaign with the help of relief pitcher John McCauley who came on in the fifth frame. Four of the winners' nine hits were two-baggers. Ray Largent of Paw Paw stole home in the third inning. Box:

Kravitz Homer Nets Bucs Win

Grand Slam Wallop Beats Phillies, 6-5

PITTSBURGH, May 11 (AP)—Catcher Danny Kravitz smashed a bases-loaded home run in the ninth inning tonight to give Pittsburgh a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was the Phillies' eighth straight loss and came after they had led until the last inning.

Kravitz' homer, his first in the major leagues, came off reliever Jack Meyer who had pitched an effective game until the ninth.

Lee Wall led off the inning with the single. Pinch-hitter Roberto Clemente also singled and Dick Groat walked to fill the sacks.

Meyer was charged with the defeat. Luis Arroyo, obtained from St. Louis in a trade earlier this week, got credit for the victory. He came on in the eighth.

Del Ennis and Marv Blaylock supplied most of the batting punch for Philadelphia. Ennis bashing his second homer of the season in the second inning with nobody aboard and Blaylock smashing a two-run round-tripper, his first, in the sixth frame.

Gas Production Hits New Peak In Garrett Co.

Commissioners Get Check For $18,000

OAKLAND — During the three-month period ending March 31 natural gas production in Garrett County topped all previous records with more than one billion cubic feet reported.

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners received the quarterly report from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company showing the amount produced in the Mt. Lake Park, Gortner, Red House and Accident areas.

The report to the commissioners showed an output of 1,018,061,000 cubic feet with a total wholesale market value of $251,087.18.

The company sent a check for $17,756.10 as the county's total from the seven per cent tax on the marketable gas which was $3,451.67 more than the check for the period ending December 31. It is also $411.83 more than the first check received by the commissioners for the first report, back in 1951.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $7,030.44 as the purchaser's proportion (2.8 per cent) and $10,545.66 as the producer's proportion (4.2 per cent).

Production from the 30 producing wells during the months of January, February and March totaled more than 11 million cubic feet per day with B. Miller well being responsible for more than five and one-half million per day. Another Miller well, located in the Red House area, showed production of more than 85 million while the Collier well in the Accident area showed over 121 million. The Hamilton well in the Red House area showed over 54 million, while the Arnold well, also at Red House, showed more than 84 million. The Welch well, one of the oldest producing wells, showed over 31 million while the Swartzentruber well still showed more than 20 million.

During the three months' period the wholesale market value was listed at $251,087.18. This compared with the preceding quarter of $204,349.02.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the county commissioners from gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the commissioners in July of 1951 the county's governing body has received $186,860.65 which has been used to help pay off the school bonds.

Gas Production Hits New Peak In Garrett Co.

Commissioners Get Check For $18,000

OAKLAND — During the three-month period ending March 31 natural gas production in Garrett County topped all previous records with more than one billion cubic feet reported.

The Garrett County Board of Commissioners received the quarterly report from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company showing the amount produced in the Mt. Lake Park, Gortner, Red House and Accident areas.

The report to the commissioners showed an output of 1,018,061,000 cubic feet with a total wholesale market value of $251,087.18.

The company sent a check for $17,756.10 as the county's total from the seven per cent tax on the marketable gas which was $3,451.66 more than the check for the period ending December 31. It is also $411.83 more than the first check received by the commissioners for the first report, back in 1951.

The breakdown of this latest tax showed $7,030.44 as the purchaser's proportion (2.8 per cent) and $10,545.66 as the producer's proportion (4.2 per cent).

Production from the 30 producing wells during the months of January, February and March totaled more than 11 million cubic feet per day with the B. Miller well being responsible for more than five and one-half million per day. Another Miller well, located in the Red House area, showed production of more than 85 million while the Collier well in the Accident area showed over 121 million. The Hamilton well in the Red House area showed over 54 million, while the Arnold well, also at Red House, showed more than 84 million. The Welch well, one of the oldest producing wells, showed over 31 million while the Swartzenuber well still showed more than 20 million.

During the three months' period the wholesale market value was listed at $251,087.18. This compared with the preceding quarter of $204,349.02.

Mt. Lake Park will receive a portion of the tax through the county commissioners from the gas produced within the corporate limits of the town.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the commissioners in July of 1951 the county's governing body has received $186,860.65 which has been used to help pay off the school bonds.

River Board Urges Support For Hyde Bill

J. G. Patrick Is Elected Chairman

The Upper Potomac River Board yesterday urged the people of Western Maryland to give active support to a resolution introduced in Congress by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde providing a regional program to end pollution in the Potomac River.

The plan, introduced as House Joint Resolution 599, would broaden the Potomac River Conservancy District and grant the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin authority to request specific legislation to implement its program.

At present, the commission is authorized only to plan and recommend. The bill would allow signatory bodies to give the interstate group regulatory authority.

Adopt Resolution

With such authority, the commission could develop a master plan to end pollution and provide for the region's future water supply.

State Senator Charles M. See urged vigorous action to get the bill upon the floor of Congress.

Rep. Hyde was cited in a resolution recognizing the efforts he and Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-W. Va. 2nd), and the Corps of Army Engineers have been making toward curbing floods and developing the resources of the river.

The resolution will be prepared by Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Garrett County health officer, and J. B. Dowling, chief of the Sanitary section of the Allegany County Health Department.

Patrick Is Chairman

The board met here yesterday and unanimously elected Julian G. Patrick, supervisory engineer for the Savage River Dam as chairman, to succeed Mark W. Roe, who headed the fact-finding body for many years.

Dowling was named secretary-treasurer, succeeding W. D. Claus, chief engineer for the Amelle plant of the Celanese Corporation.

Lauding the passage of a Maryland law to regulate strip mining as one of the major achievements of the board in recent years, members asked that Frank Powers, chairman of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, be invited to present a report on progress of the regulatory program.

Del. Harry Edwards, Grantsville, said Powers has assured him ample bond is being put up by operators for backfilling of the gashes.

He expressed interest in the correction of a strip mined area on Meadow Mountain, saying it was an eyesore for the traveling public.

Patrick reported briefly on hearings held in this area by the Corps of Engineers in connection with future flood prevention and water resource development, noting that consultants have been hired to secure further data and that "walking surveys" of the stream are under way.

The Board praised the work of the Western Maryland Railway in "rip rapping" banks of the river near its property and will seek a conference with B & O officials to discuss the value of the program.

B&O Police Head Succumbs

CINCINNATI, May 11 (AP) — Irvin R. Jones, general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad police department, was stricken with a heart attack today in Union Terminal and died en route to a hospital.

The 57-year-old police officer, who had served from one end of the B&O system to the other, was a resident of Baltimore (Alameda Apartments).

Jones, a native of Salisbury, Md., went to work for the railroad as a police officer in 1923 at Willard, Ohio. In 1926, he was promoted to lieutenant and moved to Chicago. He served there until 1941 when he was promoted to captain and moved to Grafton, W.Va. During the next 12 years, Jones also worked at Cincinnati and again in St. Louis.

He was promoted to superintendent with headquarters in Baltimore in December, 1953, replacing the late H. L. Denton.

Surviving is his wife.

The winner will receive $15,000 worth of prizes and become official ambassador of the $15 billion gas industry.

Salvation Army Buys Quarters For Officers

More Space Needed For Citadel Corps

The Salvation Army has purchased quarters for the commanding officers of the Citadel as the first step in a five-year plan of program and building expansion. The purchase of the home on Rose Hill Avenue from the heirs of late Police Chief Oscar A. Eyer, was the first phase of the program which includes the complete renovation of the Citadel building and the relocation of the South Cumberland Corps headquarters.

The deed, recorded here yesterday, lists the heirs as George R. and Mary Eyerman, Los Angeles, and Oscar A. and Esie M. Eyerman, of Broomall, Pa.

To Move Soon

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commanding officer of the Citadel, said Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., advanced $5,100 toward the purchase of officers' quarters and that the Advisory Board hopes to raise the rest of the funds needed over a period of years by public subscription.

Capt. and Mrs. Biggs and their four children plan to move into their new quarters late this month. In June, following minor changes, the second floor of the Citadel, now used as officers' quarters, will be utilized.

A small space will be provided for the building custodian, rooms now used for bedrooms will be made into classrooms for the Boy's Club and other youth activities, and the general office will be moved to the second floor, providing more waiting room for the Family Welfare and Transient Relief programs.

More Space Needed

The present Citadel Corps building at 115 North Mechanic Street was erected 35 years ago, Capt. Biggs said, and the growing program here calls for additional facilities.

The Advisory Board, he said, felt it is more practical to use space in the building for the expanded program, rather than rent additional space.

Cumberland was one of the earliest Salvation Army Corps in the United States and has been active here for 70 years. The officers' quarters is the third piece of property to be acquired here.

Young Sailor Is Honor Man

A. Catlett Jr., commanding officer at the training center, pointed out that Rice is being honored for conscientious attention to duty.

Property Deeds Recorded Here

WILL SPEAK — Capt. Today he will make the annual inspection of Young People's activities of the Salvation Army in Cumberland.

The Rededication Day commemorative program starting at 2 p. m. will feature addresses by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde of the Sixth Congressional District.

Mrs. Frank W. Mish Jr., president of the Washington County Historical Society, will extend greetings to the visitors. Invocation will be given by Rev. Charles M. LeFev, pastor of the Washington Square Methodist Church.

Former Senator George L. Radcliffe, president of the Maryland Historical Society, will be introduced by Mrs. Mish. Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the State Department of Forests and Parks, which owns Fort Frederick and its environs, will extend greetings.

Swick Faces Second Metal Theft Charge

Sash Weights Taken From Lumber Firm

Investigations into the theft and sale of metals here broadened yesterday as a local man, out on bond after appealing a six months jail sentence in connection with thefts of lead, was held for grand jury action on a charge of taking iron sash weights from a lumber yard.

Eugene Paul Swick, 24, of 130 Humbird Street, was arrested yesterday morning by State Trooper Donald Wade in the theft of 1,200 pounds of sash weights from the Western Maryland Lumber Company, McMullen Highway, on April 30.

An investigation with Edwin R. Lilia, county investigator, followed, and Lilia secured a warrant from Magistrate J. Milton Dick, charging Swick with petit larceny of the weights valued at $92.64.

The State prayed a jury trial at a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who set the bond at $1,000 and ordered the man committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

Lilia said Swick reported he sold the weights to the Cumberland Metal Company, Ford Avenue, for $12 on May 1.

Swick was sentenced to six months in the county jail on Thursday by Magistrate Dick for the theft of 640 pounds of lead sold for $76 in Johnstown, Pa.

He filed an appeal and was released yesterday morning under $1,500 bond.

Meanwhile, Lilia said two boys, 14 and 15, were questioned in connection with the thefts of lead sold by Swick. He said they were then released in the custody of their parents.

Area Man To Attend Celebration Sunday

Ross F. Shaw has accepted an invitation from Mrs. Frank W. Mish Jr., president of the Washington County Historical Society, to attend the Fort Frederick Bicentennial celebration at Fort Frederick tomorrow.

Shaw recalled yesterday that Col. Thomas Cresap, who built and established the first residence in Oldtown in 1740, was also instrumental in building Fort Frederick the same year. # Tydings' Claim To Nomination Gains Strength

Frederick County Vote Is Official

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP) — Former Sen. Millard E. Tydings' claim to the Democratic senatorial nomination was strengthened late today when he was officially declared winner of Frederick County's seven unit votes.

George P. Mahoney, Tydings' neck-and-neck rival for the nomination, apparently was left with one chance to reverse the decision. That was in Baltimore City's 5th Legislative District where Tydings had a 405-vote lead over Mahoney in the unofficial tally.

A check of tally sheets in the 5th today increased Tydings' margin by 200 votes. However, election officials won't begin checking figures on the still-sealed voting machines until Monday.

Mahoney and Tydings wound up with 76 nominating votes each on the basis of unofficial returns from last Monday's primary. The tie was the first in Maryland history. In the event of a tie, the nomination goes to the candidate who carried the popular vote.

Tydings, who served 24 years in the senate before losing to Republican John Marshall Butler in 1950, was the unofficial popular vote winner by less than 9,000.

Mahoney forces hoped to find a mistake in the Frederick County popular vote total which would swing its seven unit votes into their column breaking the unit vote deadlock and giving Mahoney the nomination.

But the slim Tydings lead in Frederick County stood up through the canvass. The former senator carried the county 2,174 to 1,973, a margin of 201 votes.

Unofficial returns from Frederick had given Tydings a 147-vote lead.

Late today, official canvasses had been completed in 20 counties. They showed no appreciable changes in the unofficial tallies in any of the races.

Canvassing of votes in Calvert, Montgomery and Baltimore counties and Baltimore City will not be completed until sometime next week.

In Baltimore's 5th District, where Mahoney forces now hope to find a mistake which would swing the nomination to their candidate, Tydings carried the popular vote by 16,398 to 15,993.

Mahoney has not conceded the election. He has said he will not have an announcement until canvasses are concluded in all political subdivisions.

River Board Urges Support For Hyde Bill

J. G. Patrick Is Elected Chairman

The Upper Potomac River Board yesterday urged the people of Western Maryland to give active support to a resolution introduced in Congress by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde providing a regional program to end pollution in the Potomac River.

The plan, introduced as House Joint Resolution 599, would broaden the Potomac River Conservancy District and grant the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin authority to request specific legislation to implement its program.

At present, the commission is authorized only to plan and recommend. The bill would allow signatory bodies to give the interstate group regulatory authority.

Adopt Resolution

With such authority, the commission could develop a master plan to end pollution and provide for the region's future water supply.

State Senator Charles M. See urged vigorous action to get the bill upon the floor of Congress.

Rep. Hyde was cited in a resolution recognizing the efforts he and Rep. Harley O. Staggers (D-W. Va. 2nd), and the Corps of Army Engineers have been making toward curbing floods and developing the resources of the river.

The resolution will be prepared by Dr. Arthur F. Jones, Garrett County health officer, and J. B. Dowling, chief of the Sanitary Section of the Allegany County Health Department.

Patrick Is Chairman

The board met here yesterday and unanimously elected Julian G. Patrick, supervisory engineer for the Savage River Dam as chairman, to succeed Mark W. Roe, who headed the fact-finding body for many years.

Dowling was named secretary-treasurer, succeeding W. D. Claus, chief engineer for the Amelle plant of the Celanese Corporation.

Lauding the passage of a Maryland law to regulate strip mining as one of the major achievements of the board in recent years, members asked that Frank Powers, chairman of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, be invited to present a report on progress of the regulatory program.

Del. Harry Edwards, Grantsville, said Powers has assured him ample bond is being put up by operators for backfilling of the gashes.

He expressed interest in the correction of a strip mined area on Meadow Mountain, saying it was an eyesore for the traveling public.

Patrick reported briefly on hearings held in this area by the Corps of Engineers in connection with future flood prevention and water resource development, noting that consultants have been hired to secure further data and that "walking surveys" of the stream are under way.

The Board praised the work of the Western Maryland Railway in "rip rapping" banks of the river near its property and will seek a conference with B & O officials to discuss the value of the program.

Salvation Army Buys Quarters For Officers

More Space Needed For Citadel Corps

The Salvation Army has purchased quarters for the commanding officers of the Citadel as the first step in a five-year plan of program and building expansion. The purchase of the home on Rose Hill Avenue from the heirs of late Police Chief Oscar A. Eyerman was the first phase of the program which includes the complete renovation of the Citadel building and the relocation of the South Cumberland Corps headquarters.

The deed, recorded here yesterday, lists the heirs as George R. and Mary Eyerman, Los Angeles, and Oscar A. and Esie M. Eyerman, of Broomall, Pa.

To Move Soon

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commanding officer of the Citadel, said Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., advanced $5,100 toward the purchase of officers' quarters and that the Advisory Board hopes to raise the rest of the funds needed over a period of years by public subscription.

Capt. and Mrs. Biggs and their four children plan to move into their new quarters late this month. In June, following minor changes, the second floor of the Citadel, now used as officers' quarters, will be utilized.

A small space will be provided for the building custodian, rooms now used for bedrooms will be made into classrooms for the Boy's Club and other youth activities, and the general office will be moved to the second floor, providing more waiting room for the Family Welfare and Transient Relief programs.

More Space Needed

The present Citadel Corps building at 115 North Mechanic Street was erected 35 years ago. Capt. Biggs said, and the growing program here calls for additional facilities.

The Advisory Board, he said, felt it is more practical to use space in the building for the expanded program, rather than rent additional space. Cumberland was one of the earliest Salvation Army Corps in the United States and has been active here for 70 years. The officers' quarters is the third piece of property to be acquired here.

Swick Faces Second Metal Theft Charge

Sash Weights Taken From Lumber Firm

Investigations into the theft and sale of metals here broadened yesterday as a local man, out on bond after appealing a six months jail sentence in connection with thefts of lead, was held for grand jury action on a charge of taking iron sash weights from a lumber yard.

Eugene Paul Swick, 24, of 130 Humbird Street, was arrested yesterday morning by State Trooper Donald Wade in the theft of 1,200 pounds of sash weights from the Western Maryland Lumber Company, McMullen Highway, on April 30.

An investigation with Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, followed, and Lilya secured a warrant from Magistrate J. Milton Dick, charging Swick with petit larceny of the weights valued at $92.64.

The State prayed a jury trial at a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who set the bond at $1,000 and ordered the man committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

Lilya said Swick reported he sold the weights to the Cumberland Metal Company, Ford Avenue, for $12 on May 1.

Swick was sentenced to six months in the county jail on Thursday by Magistrate Dick for the theft of 640 pounds of lead sold for $76 in Johnstown, Pa.

He filed an appeal and was released yesterday morning under $1,500 bond.

Meanwhile, Lilya said two boys, 14 and 15, were questioned in connection with the thefts of lead sold by Swick. He said they were then released in the custody of their parents.
